Destination Town of Ithaca

TOWN OF ITHACA

Wrapped around the City of Ithaca at the south end of Cayuga Lake, the Town of Ithaca lies at the heart of Tompkins County and features a scenic landscape of gorges, hills, and valleys. The Town of Ithaca was taken off from the Town of Ulysses in 1821, while the Village of Ithaca at its center, already the county seat and incorporated one month later, became the City of Ithaca in 1888. The Village of Cayuga Heights, incorporated in 1915, features curving, tree-lined streets and beautiful old homes. H The town's 18,000 inhabitants share an excellent school system and vibrant arts community with the city. Also within its borders are major portions of Cornell University; the campus of Ithaca College; EcoVillage, a community dedicated to sustainable living; and the Namagyal Monastery, the center for Tibetan Buddhism in the U.S.

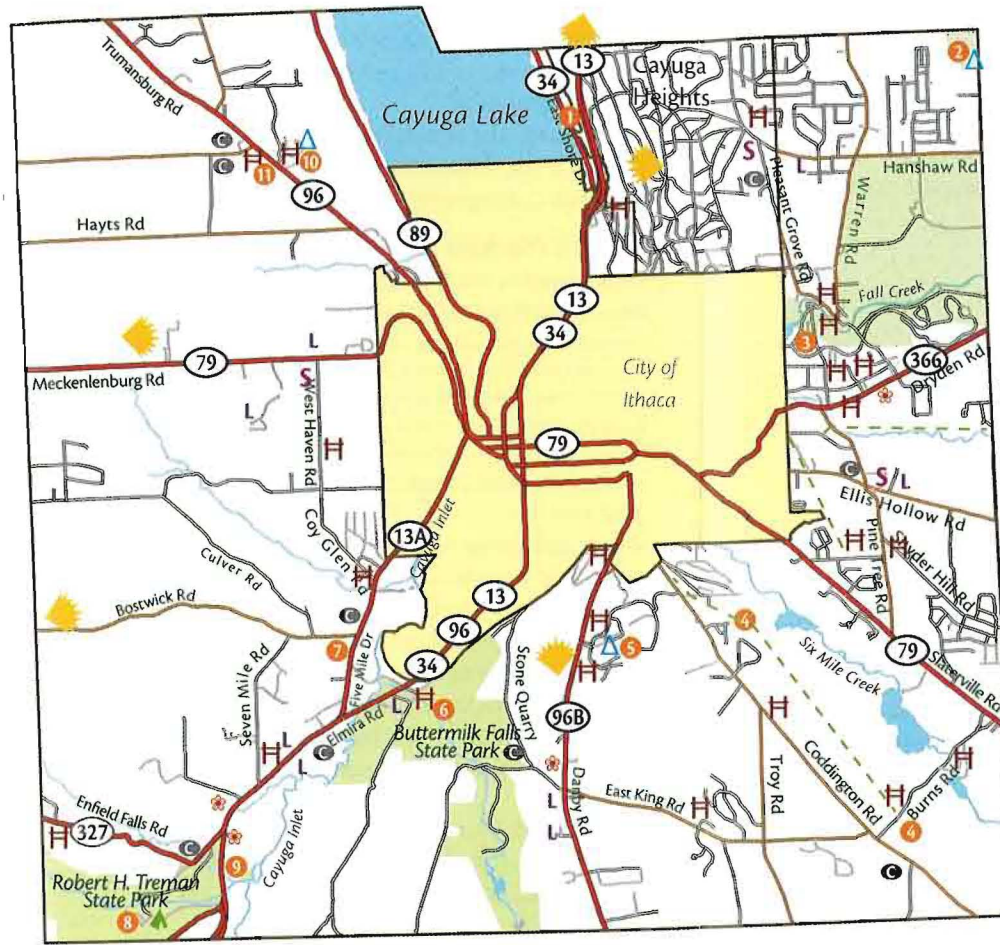

1 East Shore Park/ Cayuga Lake – Cayuga, the longest of the Finger Lakes, dominates Ithaca's landscape, occupying much of the northwest quadrant of the county. It provides numerous recreational activities, including boating of all kinds and sport fishing. East Shore Park, on the East Shore Drive waterfront, has a covered pavilion with picnic tables and an informal boat launch. No swimming is allowed, but fishing is permitted.

2 Cornell Lab of Ornithology/Sapsucker Woods Sanctuary – Part of Cornell University, the Lab of Ornithology is an international center for the study, conservation, and appreciation of birds, located within the 220-acre Sapsucker Woods Sanctuary. Nearly 100,000 people visit this center each year, with its observatory, multimedia theater, and interactive exhibits. More than four miles of wooded trails are open for walking and bird watching.

3 Cornell Plantations and Forest Home – The Plantations encompasses more than 4,000 acres of diverse natural habitats available to the public for research, education, hiking, and nature study, including Beebe Lake, Cascadilla and Fall Creek gorges, plus wetlands, gorges, glens, meadows, bogs, and old-growth forest. The arboretum and botanical gardens are a museum of living plants crossed by a network of trails. The main entrance to the Newman Arboretum is off Caldwell Rd. The Plantation headquarters building, near Judd Falls Rd, served as the Forest Home Elementary School from 1921 to 1964. It is surrounded by special gardens and has a gift shop. Tours are available, call 607-255-2400. For additional information: 607-255-3020; www.plantations.cornell.edu. Nestled within the Plantations along Forest Home Drive and neighboring roads lies the small community of Forest Home, known until 1876 as Free Hollow. A thriving industrial center based on mills powered by Fall Creek during the 19th century and into the 20th, Forest Home is now a residential neighborhood. H

4 South Hill Recreation Way – This 3.3-mile recreational trail is popular with walkers, joggers, bicyclists, cross-country skiers, and college athletic teams. Built upon an abandoned railroad bed and running parallel to Coddington Rd above Six Mile Creek, this broad and level trail serves as an off-road commuter route between South Hill and downtown. There are four entrance points. The trail runs through wooded areas with many creek crossings and small gorges, and connects to trails in the city's Mulholland Wildflower Preserve. A self-guided nature trail starts at the Crescent Drive entrance with pamphlets available nearby. At the Juniper Drive entrance is Vincenzo Iacovelli Park, 3.5-acres, with a play structure, picnic tables, pavilion, and nature trail.

5 Ithaca College – A non-sectarian and coeducational institution, the college has an enrollment of 6,400 students from the U.S. and abroad. It offers a curriculum of some 2,000 courses with more than 100 degree options in its five schools, and is well known for its music, health science, and communications programs. Founded by W. Grant Egbert in 1892 as the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, the school became Ithaca College in 1931. The present 757-acre campus was built in the 1960s. Guided campus tours are available. H

6 Buttermilk Falls State Park – Part of the Finger Lakes Park system, Buttermilk Falls has two sections along Buttermilk Creek: an upper park with an entrance off W King Rd, and a lower park off Rt 13. The name comes from the foaming cascade formed by the creek as it descends more than 500 feet toward Cayuga Lake in a series of falls, rapids, and pools. The park trails, dam, and stonework were built by the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930s. The upper park has a scenic hiking trail, picnic areas, and playing fields. The lower park has a campground, rustic cabins, swimming area with lifeguard, and playing fields, beyond which is Larch Meadows, a shady glen and wetland area with a nature trail. Park activities, including tours through the gorge, are offered weekly from July 4th through Labor Day. Bow hunting for deer is allowed in the Upper Park in season. For information, call 607-273-5761; 607-273-3440.

7 Tutelo Park – The name for this 8.31-acre community park comes from the Tutelo Indian tribe, who were adopted by the Cayuga Indian Nation in 1753. The Tutelo lived peacefully in the village of Coreogonon until the Sullivan campaign razed the village and its croplands—along with most other Native American settlements in central New York—in 1779. Tutelo and Cayuga people return to the park each September for a homecoming ceremony to relight the Tutelo council fire. The park includes a baseball field, comfort station, pavilion with picnic tables, paved bike path, wooded nature trails with benches, and a children's nature garden with native wildflower plantings. It also has the county's largest shagbark hickory and black oak trees, and is home to many species of wild birds. H

8 Robert H. Treman State Park – With 1,025 acres, this park features one of the county's spectacular gorges. The lower entrance is off Enfield Falls Rd (Rt 327), with shelter pavilions, swimming, picnic area, playgrounds, bathhouse, cabins, tent and trailer campsites. For information, call 607-273-3440.

9 Sunnysables – Built in 1852, this grand old Carpenter Gothic-style house belonged to H. E. Babcock, general manager of the Grange League Federation (later Agway). Babcock and his family lived in the house from 1919 and farmed the land until the mid-1950s. Over the ensuing years several restaurants have been located here. Fire destroyed the roof and much of the interior in 1987. The house has been restored to its previous state and is privately owned today.

10 Museum of the Earth – This museum showcases a wide selection of fossils from the collection of the Paleontological Research Institution (more than 2 million specimens), housed in a 1920s building originally an orphanage run by the Odd Fellows. H Highlights of the modern museum include skeletal remains of a whale, a mastodon, a saber-toothed cat, and many dinosaurs in a creative series of child-friendly interactive exhibits.

11 Hayts Corners Chapel – The Gothic Revival chapel, built in 1847 as the Frisk Congregational Church of West Hill, along with its adjacent cemetery and Greek Revival schoolhouse (now a private residence), played an important role in the mid-19th century Abolitionist movement. The cemetery holds the remains of many of the Ithaca area's first black families. Hayts Corners is said to have been a stop on the Underground Railroad. H
